We are all connected. Plug in. Celebrate.

For the third year running, we'll celebrate the connectedness of our vibrant digital media industry in Southern California at the third annual Digital Family Reunion. Whether you were there at the beginning, lived through the dot-com era, emerged after the crash or started your career in digital yesterday, you are a part of the Digital Family.

And you are invited to participate in the industry's holiday event of the season, where the most dynamic and well-connected media, entertainment, technology and finance professionals in Southern California gather each year in celebration of our industry and each other.

We've assembled over 30 community partners (trade associations, social networking groups, media partners) to help weave the fabric that will bring us all together for the holidays at the Wokcano Restaurant on December 8, 2010.
