You are invited to an outstanding AITP-LA networking event focusing on marketing yourself effectively.

We're meeting at a new venue, Gulp Restaurant and Brew Pub in Playa Vista, adjacent to Concert Park.

We'll be there first to network, but we've also asked several AITP-LA members who are experts in networking to be there for one-on-one conversations about ways to better market yourself, build your brand, and strengthen interviewing techniques.

This promises to be a lively interactive discussion.

Celebrate Spring in LA -- connect with professionals in many technologies including data science, content management, digital media, cyber security, and project management.

Share your vision, learn others' perspectives, find common interests and opportunities. Bring your business cards for great networking.

Space is Limited, Registration is required. We'll provide the appetizers.

Members FREE and Non-members $15.
